SHIFT: DAY SHIFT Sgt. Fortado

NUMBER OF REPORTS: 2

CATEGORIES

1 Warrant Arrest 1 Larceny from Vehicle

SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Today is our first day of our work week. We had two large protests in the city today. Both of them were observed and monitored by Officers for safety. There were no calls for service at either protest and no issues noted. An Officer observed a suspicious person in an alley and when the Officer obtained the name of the subject he learned the subject had warrants for his arrest. The subject was placed under arrest and was booked into Jail. Calls for service were steady however Officers only pulled two reports during our shift.

SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Saturday night was not as busy as usual, but officers kept busy with traffic stops and extra patrols when not responding to calls. During this shift, officers investigated a domestic disturbance between a husband and wife. While no battery occurred, she was in fear of her husband due to his drinking and she requested an Emergency Protective Order. It was granted and the husband was served with the order. He was taken away from the residence by an adult son. Officers also investigated 2 incidents of missing people/ runaways. Both subject returned home on their own before the shift was over.
