SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

The graveyard shift had a relatively quiet Friday night. Not many calls for service came in, which allowed officers to spend time in the downtown area and performing traffic enforcement stops. We lost one of our officers due to an arrestee needing medical clearance, which tied him up most of the night. Officers investigated a possible extortion case where a female reported her ex-boyfriend was threatening her with revealing a previously made sex tape. Officers also initiated a possible missing elderly woman. It turned out that she was placed in a medical facility, and her husband was confused about his wife's location due to his developing dementia.
