Two males were contacted today on separate calls and found to have methamphetamine in their possession. They were both arrested.

SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Saturday was steady, mostly with quality of life type of incidents. However, around 2200 hrs. TPD received a call of a male and female in an assault at one of the apartment complexes. Per the callers, this has been an ongoing issue all day with the two involved parties. When officers arrived, they found that the involved parties went into their apartment and would not answer the door. We found that the male involved was on active probation, with the complex being his address of record. Officers were able to enter the residence and take the male into custody. After he was gone, the female (who was extremely intoxicated) started to yell and scream outside, using curse words at all her neighbors. She was then taken into custody for being publicly intoxicated. This solved the problem for the remained of the night.

The male and female were both intoxicated and got into an argument. During the incident, the female attacked the male, leaving scratch marks on his neck and face. She was arrested and taken to jail.
