It was a good shift for swings. It was also our last one until the new rotation. Officers spent much of their time completing reports from the previous night. Many still made several arrests tonight, mostly for assaults and domestic violence. Officers responded to a report of a disturbance at a residential neighborhood. When they arrived, they discovered that an ex-boyfriend had showed up at his ex-girlfriend's home unannounced. He proceeded to damage her door. He was arrested for damaging property. Officers also responded to a fight at a local gym. Even though both the male and female denied any altercation, several witnesses came forward to say they had seen it. The male was arrested for domestic violence and booked into jail.

SUPERVISOR COMMENTS

Officers responded to a fist fight between a father and his adult son. During the altercation, the son used a vape pen to try and stab his father, while saying he was going to kill him. This caused superficial, but visible injuries to the father. The son was booked into jail for he assaults and making criminal threats to his dad. Officers responded to a fight in-progress at a downtown bar. One of the involved males was contacted and was not cooperative. He displayed heavy signs of intoxication and was arrested for being drunk in public. While being searched, he was found in possession of a switchblade knife and booked for the weapon violation. Several officers also responded to an active disturbance. Several neighbors called reporting a female screaming. When officers arrived, they could hear the female and sounds of an active fight occurring in the backyard of a residence. Officers entered the backyard through a side gate and saw a female pushing a male against a wall. She was also striking at another male. The female was quickly detained and her screaming continued as officers walked her to the back of a patrol vehicle. She was heavily intoxicated and the investigation revealed she had attacked her boyfriend, leaving visible injuries on his neck. She also attacked her 16-year-old son, and bit him on the arm leaving a visible injury. Additionally, she tried to attack her 85-year-old mother while yelling profanities at her. She was arrested for domestic battery, child abuse, and elder abuse, and was served with an EPO. She had to be placed in a WRAP device for transport to the jail due to her banging her head several times against the window and kicking the inside of the vehicle.
